Experience / Approach

Wai Poc, M.B.A., is the the Principal of UnleashedLeaders and a Strategic Partner with Mariposa. Wai's last in-house role was at Genentech for +10 years, including with Engineering, Research, Sales and Marketing, Product Development and BD. As a trusted advisor, Wai consulted before, during, and after reorgs. Wai has partnered with VPs and their senior staff to assess, select, and develop leaders, including through succession planning. For +7 years as an Executive Coach, Wai focuses on accelerating leadership development. He loves to coach leaders to have impact!

Born in Shanghai and raised in Miami, Wai celebrates his Chino-Latino heritage. Differences – in how people think, feel, and act – have long captivated his curiosity, resulting in a major in cultural anthropology at Stanford and travels to +60 countries. Differences – in what people do, prioritize, and focus – either get in the way of collaborative work or can be the source of innovation, smart strategy, and agile execution.

Wai's clients are being challenged to risk smartly and grow fast, seeking his support on:

- Strategic influence: building alliances to get big things done
- Power and politics: not to be swept by undercurrents, instead rising above the fray
- Executive presence: accessing confidence when the stakes are ever higher
- Career moves: taking a step back, viewing a bigger picture, and iterating to launch
- Sustainable success: for family and health by changing habits of well-being
